BANQUET TO HON. MR. WHITE

The Minister of the Interior is Entertained at a Banquet

At the Driard House by Our Representative Citizens.

The banquet tendered to the Hon. Mr. White at the Driard House last night was attended by the leading men of the city, and in the diversified character of the company was a truly cosmopolitan gathering. The bench and bar, members of the Dominion and local legislatures, commercial and working men were all represented, and the spacious dining room, although not over-crowded, was comfortably filled by the many admirers of the Minister of the Interior. Mayor Fell presided, assisted in the vice-chairs by Councillors Grant and Robertson. On the right of the chair, sat the guest of the evening, Hon. Mr. White, Sir M. B. Begbie, Senator Nelson, F. S. Barnard, M. P., Hon. J. Robson, while to the left were Lieut.-Gov. Cornwall, Senator Macdonald, N. Shakespeare, M.P., and Hon. W. Smithe. Vis-a-vis to the chairman was Col. Stevens, U. S. Consul, and ranged on either side were many of our most distinguished citizens. The company sat down shortly after eight o'clock, the dinner lasting for several hours. Music was furnished by Messrs. Palmer and Haynes' band. The menu was rich and varied, and as perfect as the Driard chef could make it. At the prescribed time, about ten o'clock, the chairman rose and proposed the first toast,

The "Queen," followed by "Prince of Wales and Rest of the Royal Family," both of which were received with enthusiasm.

"The Governor-General" was proposed by Senator McDonald, and the "President of the United States" by Councillor Grant.

Col. Stevens responded to the latter, and referred to a pleasant way to the auspicious event which had recently occurred in the life of President Cleveland. He rejoiced at the friendly feeling that exists between the two great nations of the earth, and expressed the hope that it might long continue.

"The Lieut. Governor," was given by Sir. M. B. Begbie. Music: "A Real Old English Gentleman."

Lieut. Governor Cornwall expressed his appreciation at being present as a deputy of the Governor General of Canada. The attitude of the people of this province was one of unswerving loyalty to the throne of Great Britain and would continue so to be. The bonds will be drawn more closely in the future, and all the provinces would now be combined together to build up our young nation. He expressed the pleasure at the courtesy with which he had been received during his incumbency of five years, and referred to the difficulties that had existed between the Dominion and province, now all happily settled. He expressed the hope that the guest of the evening and his colleagues would have a long term of power so long that they would be permitted to know the benefit of their far-seeing statesmanship. (Applause).

Mayor Fell proposed "The Guest of the Evening." (Applause.) He said that the transcontinental railway had brought to our midst one of those illustrious gentlemen who had ever stood forward for the right, and in the hours of our adversity had fought our battles. (Cheers.) The difficulties which the government had to contend were now removed, and on the 4th of July, confederation had been consummated by the arrival of the first direct train. He had the honor and pleasure of being present at the grand wedding of the east and west. (Cheers.) Now was the time when bygones shall be bygones, and when we must stand shoulder to shoulder and shove ahead, and a greater Britain arise here than had ever yet appeared. The railway will bring among us the statesmen of the east, and the visit would so enlarge their views that they would see that we had here a finer province than they had elsewhere in the Dominion. Our guest had already given us an insight into the past; and he hoped he would now lift the veil and give us a peep into the future. He had great pleasure in proposing our guest. (Enthusiastic cheers.)

Hon. Mr. White, who was received with unbounded applause, said that he could not find words to express his gratification at the kindness of the reception which had been accorded him since coming to British Columbia, and this crowning act made for him a ground of gratitude that he would never forget. He had come here on a business visit. When he had been assigned the post of Minister of the Interior, his first duty was to study the problems with which he had to deal, by a personal conference with the people (cheers). A few weeks after being appointed, he had traveled for ten weeks through the Northwest, where serious troubles had arisen. He did not confine himself to the railway but had traveled by buckboard over one thousand miles, and by personally conversing with the people had laid up a store of information which would serve him in good stead in his department. Having also learned that there were some questions of difference between the Dominion and British Columbia, he had resolved to come here and meet the people face to face. He had had a long interview with the minister having charge of the lands, and ventured to hope that we would have no further difficulty with Island lands. (Cheers.) It did not take long to come to an understanding. A conference would also be held with the squatters on the mainland, the result of which he hoped would be to give them confidence in their holdings, (cheers) and that thereafter they would have the same confidence in the government now having charge as they formerly had in the local administration. The Mayor had expressed the hope that he might be able to lift the veil, but if His Honor could give him the art (laughter) he would have no objection to take them all into his confidence. But he ventured to hope that the future had in store for us all that the most sanguine optimist could expect. Looking at the past twenty years, he thought the future would be even more prosperous than the past. (Cheers.) Our people must have confidence in themselves, for with a community as with an individual, self-confidence was a source of power and helped us to realize our expectations. Alluding to the members of the confederation, he said that in no part of the continent of America were the people as a whole better off—or the farmers in a better position to enjoy themselves—than in Ontario. The northwest would afford homes for many hundreds of thousands of prosperous settlers, and as to British Columbia what he could say honestly was this, that what he had seen was a revelation to him. He had heard a great deal about Victoria, but after being here two or three days he was convinced that the representatives from this city had not overstated the facts. (Cheers.) He had written to his honored leader advising him not to make the journey during the hot season, unless he did so by easy stages, and also advised him by all means to be prepared to stay here several weeks when he did come. (Cheers.) One thing that he would urge was that we should act together as a united people with the one object in view, of promoting the interest of every part of this wide Dominion. (Cheers.) There could be no greater mistake than that the interest of one province was not the interest of the other (cheers). In the east prosperous settlements were being located north of the laurentians, miles up the Ottawa, on the Saguenay, and other territories that had been looked upon as utterly worthless are now becoming the homes of thousands. (Cheers.) The pessimism that had too frequently characterized our business men was giving way, and our people were gaining a greater spirit of confidence in themselves. We had not an adequate conception of what the future had in store for us. Some years ago the Hon. John Young had headed an agitation to deepen the channel of the St. Lawrence to twenty feet, so that ocean vessels could come up to Montreal; now the channel is 27 feet. (Cheers.) The graving dock at Esquimalt will in a few years be found too small, and will have to be increased in length. Let us rid ourselves of pessimism and the middle-aged of to-day will look back upon the accomplishment of still greater things in the future than we have achieved in the past. (Cheers.) He assured them that he would carry back to Ottawa the keenest appreciation of the kindness of the people of Victoria, and he promised that whatever he could do to further the interests of the province would be done in the same spirit of whole-heartedness that had been shown to him. (Long continued applause, during which Mr. White resumed his seat the company rising and singing "He's a jolly good fellow.")

"Army, Navy and Volunteers," proposed by Mr. Fisher. Responded to by Mr. J. H. Turner and Captain Prior.

"The Bench and Bar," proposed by Senator Nelson. Sir M. B. Begbie, in responding, gave a brief reminiscence of his 28 years in the province, stating that when he first went up country to administer justice, it was not unusual for him to sit on one end of a log and the suitor on the other. At that time every man had a couple of revolvers and a bowie knife—a year after such a thing as a revolver was not to be found. And during all that time such a thing as lynch law had not been attempted in British Columbia. (Cheers.)

"The Senate and Commons" was given by Hon. J. Robson and replied to by Senators Macdonald and Nelson, Mr. N. Shakespeare, M. P.

"The Provincial Government and Legislative Assembly," proposed by N. Shakespeare, M. P., and responded to by Hon. W. Smithe and R. Dunsmuir, M. P. P.

"The Mayor and Council," proposed by J. H. Todd, President of the Board of Trade. Happily replied to by His Worship Mayor Fell and Councillor Grant.

The proceedings were then brought to a close with the national anthem.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

A meeting of the Bank of British Columbia is to be held this month in London, to declare a dividend for the half-year to June 30th, the accounts to that period being subsequently posted to the shareholders, and another meeting is held in February to receive the accounts to December 31st. For 1883 the dividend was 7½ per cent.; for 1884 and 1885, 8 each year. Reserve, £280,000.

Owing to the recent alterations in the Bank of British North America's deed of settlement the accounts to December 31 are now submitted in March, and dividends paid in April and October—the dividend in April being to December 31st, and the dividend in October to June 30th. For 1882, 1883, and 1884, the dividend was 6 per cent. per annum, and for 1885, 7½. Reserve, £221,810.

In the London market according to latest advices Bank of British Columbia, £250,000, fully paid shares of £20, were quoted at £28 @ £29 per share; the £250,000 shares of £20, with £10 paid were quoted at £13½ to £14½. Bank of British North America, £1,000,000 fully paid shares of £50 were quoted at £61 @ £63. Bank of Montreal, $12,000,000 fully paid shares of $200 were quoted at $417 @ $418.

British Columbia bonds, issue of £180,000 bearing interest half yearly on 1st April and 1st October at 6 per cent per annum, redeemable 1st April, 1894, were quoted at 112 @ 115; those of the £150,000 issue, maturing July 1st, 1907, bearing same rate of interest, were quoted at 124 @ 127. Those are the bonds floated at a discount of 4 per cent by the Elliott Smithe government. They are the largest bonds quoted in London. Canada's bonds, bearing interest from 3½ to 5 per cent range in quotations at from 97½ @ 114.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Canadian Pacific Railway earnings and expenses for May, 1886, were as follows:—Gross earnings, $807,296; working expenses, $498,195; net profits, $309,101. The increase in net profits, May, 1886, as compared with May, 1885, is $82,995. For the five months ending May 31st, 1886, the figures are as follows:—Gross earnings, $3,254,419; working expenses, $2,347,254; net profits, $917,165. The increase in the net profits for the five months, ending May 31st, 1886, as compared with last year, is $86,248.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Co.'s earnings for the week ending June 30th, were $291,000; same week last year, $225,000.

WESTERN HIGHLANDERS.

A Well Known Victorian Writes of the Advantages Possessed by British Columbia as a Field for Emigration.

The Oban, Argyleshire, (Scotland) Telegram in introducing a letter sent it by a well known literate of this city, residing on the Saanich road, outside of the corporation limits, says: A valued correspondent and subscriber writes from British Columbia: "The Western Highlanders, when easier in mind, and not urged to it by lairds or others, may think of moving to a new country," and, as an old resident, goes on to give a fascinating account of that country: "We have an outermost frontage of some six hundred miles in extent, and an inner sea coast, insular, interinsular, and firthal or loch one, of several thousand miles. Our province as a whole is mountainous, and its sea-front particularly so, but spots for potato and garden cultivation are in many quarters to be found of extent as yet but little known. These are likely, as has been the case in more southern quarters, to prove more numerous and important than was at first, or even is now, by most people supposed. An official for years engaged in laying out Indian reservations, agrees with us on this opinion. He spent a summer on such work on the most northern part of the British Columbia sea coast. The hills and mountains of the coast are timbered, but with openings occupied in part by sphagnous swamps or bogs, having a thin growth of stunted wood, Labrador Tea (Ledum Latifolium) Menziesia, Gentian, underneath the boggy moss (Sphagnum), there is likely enough peat. At the Hudson Bay Company post, Fort Simpson, where I passed a good part of and have since been on flying visits, as much as 613 bushels of potatoes have been harvested from an acre of newish cleared ground manured with seaweed. This is a giant tangle, chiefly in pre-historic times dried and used as a line by the Indians. Otherwise prepared the hollow tangle was a vessel for containing fish oil, and thus filled several could be coiled up in a canoe. Black-tailed deer, bigger than the roebuck, abound on the outer coast and islands, save the Hinds, or Queen Charlotte group, some forty miles out in the Pacific. These deer become very fat in season. The climate of the coast is rainy when not snowy, as the greenock porter is reported to have said of that of his "toon." The winter snow is broken by thaws. Fish numerous and of various kinds—halibut, cod, rock cod of two kinds at least, no haddock or mackerel, what is called whiting, salmon everywhere, herring everywhere, and sheltered seas for taking them in. Oolahan Eulachoo, or candle, taken in spring on three rivers, salt-water ducks in season, innumerable and very fat while they can have herring spawn to live for!"

A REVOLTING TRAFFIC.

Country Girls Brought to Montreal and Sold to American Procurers For From $150 to $200 Each.

The Montreal Star of the 5th announces that Senator Harris has introduced into the U. S. Senate a memorial from the W. C. T. U. of Indiana asking an investigation into the importation of young Canadian girls into Chicago for immoral purposes. The memorial was in the form of a resolution, and read as follows:

"Whereas, it has come to our knowledge that wholesale trading in human flesh, in the form of young and innocent girls, for the purpose of prostitution, is carried on to an alarming extent—it is stated that over fifty girls have been sent from Canada to one Chicago house within a year—therefore your memorialists, the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, respectfully and earnestly ask that you will duly provide for and cause to be made a thorough official enquiry concerning this alleged international traffic in girls for immoral purposes, and take such action as may be found necessary to speedily and effectually abolish it."

The memorial was signed by the following members of the department for the promotion of the social purity: Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols, president; Lena M. Best, vice-president; Sadie E. Reed, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth A. Parker, state superintendent. It was referred to the judiciary committee. Senator Harrison said he had no personal knowledge of the allegations made.

Chief of Police Paradis states that six years ago the importation into the United States of young Canadian girls for immoral purposes was attempted, but that the efforts of the police put a stop to it, while Chief Detective Cullen says that Montreal is not used as a basis of supply. If the police don't know about the traffic which is going on every one connected with Bonaventure depot is aware of it. Last week two gangs, one of eleven and another of twenty-five, were despatched to Chicago. The victims were principally young girls from the country who were hired to go to Chicago as domestics. It took the police a considerable time before they "discovered" the presence of the gambling houses in the city, and it appears they are equally blind to the existence of the den situated on a lane in rear of the St. Lawrence market, where this nefarious trade is carried on in the most open manner. Two saloon keepers in the city are engaged in the traffic, and are said to have amassed a considerable competency in this manner, as much as $150 or $200 being paid for each victim. The authorities of the police office have long been aware of these facts, and are willing to give the necessary information to the detectives or the police. Will it take them as long to act as it did in the gambling cases?

John Lewin, aged fourteen, was drowned at St Catharines on the 7th inst.

It is officially announced that the Princess Beatrice is enciente.

Mr. H. C. Beeton, the agent-general in London for British Columbia, has opened a fund at his office, and at the Bank of British North America, for the relief of the sufferers by the recent fire at Vancouver.

Detective O'Leary has succeeded in capturing John Rogers, the chief of the gang of counterfeiters who have so long carried on their operations in Canada. Rogers' proper name is Johnston and he belongs to Toronto, where with two sisters and his father he manufactured counterfeit bills.

The reception of Mrs. Beeton, wife of the agent-general for British Columbia, "to meet the Marquis of Lorne and the Canadian representatives at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition," took place in London on July 3rd, from the hours of nine to twelve o'clock, and was largely attended by many Canadians sojourning in the city.

Today's Despatches

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

A Grand Celebration in Toronto—The Finest Display yet Witnessed.

TORONTO, July 13.—One of the grandest sights ever witnessed in Toronto was the parade of the uniformed Knights of Pythias this afternoon. They mustered on Clarence square about 4 p. m., where an immense crowd had assembled and a column, headed by Major-general Canahan, Adjutant-general Newall, and a brilliant staff, all mounted, began its grand march through the streets. There were divisions from as far away as Florida and New Orleans. It is estimated that between 5,000 and 6,000 Knights were in line. All along the route streets were packed with spectators, and the windows of dwellings and stores were crowded. It was a perfect ovation from start to finish. At the Queen's Park a halt was made for fifteen minutes, and here 10,000 persons had congregated.

WELL EXECUTED MOVEMENTS

of several divisions, while marching, were received with rousing cheers. The column occupied half an hour passing through a given point. Several prominent members of the Order say it was the grandest parade of uniformed Knights that has yet taken place. This afternoon Supreme Prelate, Dr. King, held an At Home, many Knights and citizens being present. To-night a public reception is being held in the Mutual street rink, at which addresses of welcome were made on behalf of the city and the Order throughout Ontario. Responses were made by Supreme Chancellor Van Volkenburg and others. To-night a steamer took the Knights on a moonlight excursion around the Island. After a sail the Knights all landed on the Island, where they witnessed a grand display of fireworks from a barge anchored in the bay.

THE SUPREME LODGE

has been in session all day. A draft of ritual for a ladies' rank was presented and referred to a special committee. Other business transacted was purely routine. It is generally conceded that Howard Douglas, Supreme Vice-Chancellor, will be the next Supreme Chancellor. Chicago is favored as the place of holding the next biennial session, but Cincinnati has many supporters.

TRAIN WRECKERS.

Diabolical Attempt to Destroy a Train Load of Excursionists Near Ottawa.

OTTAWA, July 13.—A train carrying five hundred Orange excursionists from Kingston, on the Grand Trunk, after passing Cumberland, this morning, ran into an obstruction placed on the track on a sharp curve on an embankment, fifty feet high, with the river at the bottom. The train was not derailed as the engineer saw the obstruction in time to reduce speed somewhat. It was, however, a very narrow escape. The Orangemen claim it was the work of their enemies.

THE BELFAST RIOT

DUBLIN, July 14.—During the rioting at Belfast last night between Catholics and Protestants four taverns and a number of dwelling houses were wrecked. Police and soldiers charged the rioters several times, and at last succeeded in clearing the main streets. In the byways, however, dangerous knots of men are lurking and fears of a renewal of disturbances are entertained. Among those wounded last night was sergeant Thought, who cannot recover. Constables and many civilians received severe wound.

BELFAST, July 14.—The city is quiet to-day. The investigation shows that most of the fighting was done between police and Orangemen, the latter attacking the officers because they were preventing the Orangemen from attacking the Catholics. Wm. Gordon who was reported killed is not dead but fatally injured and lying at the point of death. Two civilians named McWaters and McElroy, were shot dead. Fifteen persons are still in the hospitals suffering from injuries received during the riot last night.

CONSTABLE AND SOLDIER SHOT.

This morning the head constable of Waterford forced a private soldier to attempt the arrest of two Orangemen, father and son. The latter shot and killed both the constable and the soldier. The situation at Waterford is serious, the streets are patrolled by police and cavalry.

HIGH LIFE DIVORCE.

LONDON, July 14.—A decree nisi of divorce has been granted to Baron H. Deworms against his wife. The plaintiff's allegations concerning the lady's criminal relations with Baron Meeron, in Tyrol, were fully proven. The evidence showed that the Baroness made exceptionally long sojourns on the continent for incontinent purposes; obtaining her husband's permission to go away from home by pretending that she was suffering from ill-health which required Alpine air. She also, it was shown, managed to conceal the purpose of her visits to Tyrol which was to meet Baron Meeron, by hiring his castle. She gave him $100,000 for the use of it for a few years. Before this Baron Meeron was in a state of poverty. Baron Deworms has been awarded the custody of his three children.

ORANGE SYMPATHY.

LONDON, July 14.—Eight thousand Orangemen of Sydney, New South Wales, have forwarded to England a set of resolutions denouncing the proposals to grant Home Rule to Ireland.

AID TO PARNELL.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—The following message was sent across the Atlantic to-day from the Young Ireland Parliamentary Club, of this city: To Chas. Stewart Parnell, London: We cable you to-day through the Consolidated Bank, London, another £1,000.

J. J. O'BRIEN, President.

SMALLPOX IN CHILI.

SANTIAGO DE CHILI, (via Galveston) July 14.—The smallpox epidemic is becoming worse every day. The disease proves fatal to sixty or seventy per cent of persons attacked. On Saturday and Sunday last 27 cases smallpox were sent to the hospital.

WHAT DOESN'T MEAN?

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—John W. Mackay arrived here yesterday from the East. His presence here is said to have something to do with a cross telegraph from Victoria and a cable line.

Geo. Innes of St. Thomas, has been arrested for making and uttering counterfeit coin.

BRITISH POLITICS.

FURTHER TORY GAINS.

The Tories have gained middle Leicestershire from the Liberals, electing E. Delisle, Conservative, over J. E. J. Ferguson, Gladstonian. The Tories have also gained East Renfrewshire, Scotland, where they defeated M. H. Shawstart, Gladstonian; and South Huntingtonshire, where the re-election of T. Coate, jr., Gladstonian, has been defeated by the election of Smithbur, Conservative.

LONDON, July 13.—Labouchere writes to the daily News urging Gladstone not to resign on the ground that he has a majority on everything except the Irish question, and that the Unionists are not literally to support a general vote of want of confidence in him.

PARNELL ON THE SITUATION.

Parnell has written a letter in which he says the statement of Lord Hartington that the Irish party and the National League are in union with American Fenians is untrue. I know nothing whatever of any Fenian organization in Ireland or England beyond what I have learned from the newspapers. I have never had any communication with the leaders of such an organization or accepted any alliance with them. I do not even know who the leaders are. No union of the National League and Fenians has ever been proposed. If such proposal had ever been made I should never have consented. I have always successfully endeavored to keep the National League within the strictest bounds of legality. In spite of the unblushing falsehoods which have partially and temporarily frustrated the moderate aspirations of Ireland the Irish people will continue to maintain a peaceable and legal aspect, declining to afford any pretext to Lord Hartington or his tory allies to resort to the brutalities of coercion.

A COALITION PROBABLE.

Lord Hartington is in London and Earl Salisbury is expected on Friday. A conference has been arranged for on Monday. An arrangement has been arrived at by which Lord Salisbury will accept Lord Hartington's home rule policy, which involves the maintenance of the full powers of the imperial parliament. By it the powers conferred on local councils in Ireland are delegated, not surrendered, by parliament, which body reserves the right to control and revise the actions of the councils. The appointment of judges and local administration are centred in the imperial authorities. Lord Hartington is reluctant to join the conservative ministry, although he has pledged himself to support the coercion and general policy of the conservatives.

WILL NEVER ACCEPT.

In Gladstonian circles confidence is expressed that the premier will resign. Gladstone will hold a conference with his colleagues on Saturday. The Parnellites say they will never accept Lord Hartington's scheme, and will fight and wait until they have secured the passage of the full Gladstonian measures.

Mr. T. M. Healy, in an address to the meeting, said that although Irishmen were disappointed at the result of the elections they should not be despondent. The defeat, he said, was a temporary one. A million electors had written home rule on their polling papers as against the unholy existing triple alliance. A coalition government Mr. Healy contended could not last three months.

ELECTION GOSSIP.

The totals at midnight of elections are: Conservatives and unionists, 365; Gladstonians, 241.

At the regular fortnightly meeting of the national league the treasurer announced that the donations received from the United States for the parliamentary fund within the past two weeks amounted to £8000.

A serious riot broke out in Belfast between Catholics and Protestants. The military was called out to restore order. Many persons were injured and sent to the hospital.

A Dublin dispatch states that an Orange lodge in Coalisland, a small village in the county Tyrone, four miles from Dungannon, was attacked last night by a number of men belonging to the national league. The attacking party were armed with rifles and kept up a fire for two hours on the lodge, the police being powerless to interfere. Armed moonlighters last night attacked and took possession of two houses in Fremont and Kanturk, Cork county. Then they entered and severely beat the inmates.

POLITICS IN FRANCE.

President Grevy has signed a decree for the expulsion of the Duc D'Aumale from France. If the Duc DeChartres should imitate Duc D'Aumale in litigation of the question of the republic's right to expel him the Chamber of Deputies will take action looking toward the confiscation of all property in France belonging to the Orleans family.

The decision to expel the Duc D'Aumale was announced in the Chamber of Deputies by M. Goblilet, minister of public instruction. M. Jolan said the government action was approved by the country and restored confidence in the ministry. The Chamber of Deputies has rejected the navigation treaty with Italy.

CHOLERA RAVAGES.

ROME, July 13.—Cholera returns for today are: Brindisi, 147 new cases, 48 deaths; Tontana, 73 new cases, 26 deaths; Latani, 83 new cases, 12 deaths; San Vita, 17 new cases and 4 deaths.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

At the meeting of the new board last evening, Mr. D. W. Higgins was appointed chairman and Mr. C. Hayward secretary.

Mrs. Reid's resignation was accepted, and a vote of thanks was tendered her for the efficient discharge of duty.

Mrs. John McLean was appointed janitor for Rock Bay School.

A letter from Miss Collin, professor of elocution, suggesting that a special teacher be engaged to give instruction in elocution and oratory, was received and favorably referred to the superintendent of education.

A report from the superintendent of education showing the result of the written examination of the senior classes, was received, and ordered to be framed and placed in the schools.

The secretary reported the average daily attendance during June at 848.74.

Attention was drawn to the necessity of taking steps to fill vacancies in the teaching staff, which the secretary reported to be as follows: Second assistant, girls' department, $70 a month; sixth assistant, girls' department, $60 a month; teacher at Rock Bay Ward School, $70 per month.

The consideration of the House Lessons Committee's report was further deferred for one month, and the board then adjourned.

FEMALE TEACHERS.

Of late years, in the United States as well as in Canada, young women in great numbers are preparing themselves for the performance of the educational work required by the state. This we conceive, is an admirable field in which young women may find employment, and in many cases the work is at least as well done as it would be by men. For more attention has been given of late years to the more solid elements in the education of women. In many of the institutions of learning the girls are taking a regular collegiate course, perhaps not precisely the same in all respects as that pursued by young men, but on the whole quite as substantial and equally necessary in the general and higher education of the community. Recently in the city of New York a large number of girls—nearly 300, we believe—graduated at the Normal School. They passed their final examination with great credit, and the testimony is that they worked more assiduously and more conscientiously than most college boys. There was amongst them a very keen competition for academic excellence, quite as keen as that among young men in the higher institutions of learning. More care is required to protect the health of girls in the colleges than boys, as they have less opportunity for physical recreation and are more likely to apply themselves for long periods of time together. A course of study appropriate for girls should be marked out, and the opportunities given for the education of women in the higher walks of learning that are now offered to young men. Knowledge and culture are quite as useful to the one sex as to the other, and in our day, when it is proposed to extend the sphere of women's employment and to give her a larger share in the direction of human affairs, it is only right that no impediment should be put in the way of highest culture.

RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT IN JAPAN.

A contemporary observes that the Government of Japan seems to move along safely in its course of progress. Our readers are aware that the Government of Japan took a new departure in the year 1868, the chief feature of which was the overthrow of feudalism and the re-establishment of the ancient regal authority of the Mikado. The political change which Japan then underwent was not unlike that which took place in England in the time of Edward IV., when the supremacy of the aristocracy came to an end, and kingly power obtained an ascendancy. The Mikado is assisted by a Cabinet, each member of which is individually responsible to the sovereign; so that it is in fact an absolute monarchy. Under the Japanese constitution there is a Senate as well as a Ministry, but the Senate possesses no constitutional power. It is composed of men of experience in public affairs, and its functions are purely consultative. It considers the questions that are referred to it. It gives its opinions, but the Mikado and his Ministers may disregard its advice. There has always been a Prime Minister to whom the rest are considered more or less subordinate, but the superiority is somewhat shadowy. In future, however, it is said that his duty will be to exercise a general oversight over all the departments of the Government, so that the Prime Minister is in some respects a vice-Emperor, being the supreme director of public affairs, except when the Emperor chooses to intervene and decide that matters shall be otherwise. Four years hence a national parliament is to be created, but the Japanese Parliament is to be constituted rather after the plan of Germany than that of England. What may be the future of the Japanese constitutional system, when it comes to be worked out, it is impossible to say, but the chances are that it will continue to approach more and more nearly to the constitutional system of England. Especially will this be found necessary should the Mikado of Japan prove at any time to be a man of inferior intellectual power.

CANADIAN MADE RAILS.

A few weeks since reference was made in THE TIMES to a paper published by Mr. J. H. BARTLETT of Montreal, as to the feasibility of developing the iron resources of Canada, which at present constitute a deposit of great but comparatively unproductive wealth. In a later letter upon this and kindred topics Mr. BARTLETT points out that Canada could and should aid in the development of her iron mines by encouraging the manufacture of all the rails needed for her many thousand miles of railway, existent and prospective. Consequent benefits would also ensue to our coal mines, and in a greater or smaller relation to every other one of our diversified industries. It is sound and tenable protectionist doctrine to say that it would pay this country to give effect to these suggestions, either by bounties or duties or both, but chiefly by the latter. Some of the fainthearts who afflict Canada will recoil with real or affected horror from this proposition, but the same faint-hearts recoil in horror from the protectionist programme of 1878, though there is not now one of them with the courage or consistency to stand for parliament as the advocate of the old tariff. The same class predicted that the Canadian Pacific Railroad would be a ruinous failure, but the force of accomplished facts now compels them to silence on that subject. Therefore their opposition to a well-digested scheme for the development of our iron resources would not count with a people who have so often found them out in false prophecy. A great opportunity to create a steel rail industry in Canada was missed when the Canadian Pacific Railway charter was permitted to pass without a clause binding the syndicate to make—or cause to be made—the rails for their road in Canada. In the end this would have paid both the country and the syndicate, who would have found it to their interest, in more ways than one, to accept such a promise. It is suggested that charters to lines seeking aid from the country in future should contain a stipulation of the kind, as part of a general scheme for the development of our iron, steel and coal industries. When Mr. BARTLETT shows us that during the first seventeen years of Confederation we imported iron and steel manufactures invoiced at $230,000,000, $48,000,000 of which went for steel and iron rails, we get some idea of what we might do for ourselves, by manufacturing our own iron and steel.

GLADSTONE AND BRIGHT.

Concerning the rupture that has taken place between the above veteran statesmen the Toronto Globe writes: It is painful to see two such old and such mutually respecting friends as GLADSTONE and BRIGHT brought, in their closing years, into not only active political hostility towards each other, but evidently into very embittered personal feeling. They try hard, but with very partial success, to maintain in their intercourse with each other the outward forms of something like courtesy. The Quaker has not been fair to his old friend, as GLADSTONE's letter very plainly shows. He has applied words to one set of circumstances which were true only of another. He has traveled into the region of motives and judged his former leader harshly and unjustly, when he ought to have known better before he spoke. And, worst of all, he has done that which, in GLADSTONE's mind, may very possibly rankle more than all the rest. He has insinuated dotage as the moving power in the Premier's policy, and as the only adequate explanation of what is regarded as his present stupendous mistake. To stand such a thrust, and from such a man, with dignified equanimity might try very severely the strong self-restraint of any man. It would, perhaps, be too much to say that GLADSTONE has been entirely successful in the effort, yet he evidently writes under a very strong pressure of restraint. Formally his words are calm and quiet, but the bitterness is all the same easily seen. He tells his former colleague that he must have written either in great ignorance of the matters under discussion, or under the influence of something in comparison with which ignorance is a virtue. He tells him plainly that he cannot have read the bill which he so harshly criticizes, and, further, that it is evident that as a member of a Cabinet he cannot have taken any practical part in the work, but must have been simply nominal in his membership or ornamental in his official labors. The interchange to such compliments is not calculated either to soothe or conciliate. In both these old men still live their wonted fires; and manly Christians though both of them be, it will be some time before they can kiss and be friends in any sense. In the old sense, "never more."

THE Toronto Mail states that Halifax is to be made the greatest naval station in the world, and the defences of British Columbia are to be greatly improved, partly at the expense of Canada and partly at the expense of the Mother Country. Australia is also strengthening herself upon her borders. The Australians, by the way, have a very respectable navy. At the present moment they are considering, upon the invitation of the Imperial government, the advisability of uniting in the establishment of a federal navy, supported by Great Britain and her dependencies. The Premiers of the various colonies will meet and discuss the matter with Amiral Tryon shortly. The Cape is also asked to join, and Canada may probably be invited to express an opinion upon the subject. This would appear to be the first practical movement in the direction of Imperal Federation.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It has been decided to perpetuate the Colonial Exhibition in London in a permanent form. The site however, has not yet been settled upon. The colonists wish it to be on the Thames embankment, near the city. The Prince of Wales would prefer the present position which will therefore probably be adopted.

AFTER his very abusive speech in Portsmouth, Lord Randolph Churchill was ordered to take complete rest for the next two weeks. It would be a great gain to honest politics if the young Woodstock lord could be compelled to rest for fifty years. In this case Lord Salisbury is said to be the prescribing physician.

IMPORTS of sugar at San Francisco since the 1st of January have been the heaviest ever known on the Pacific coast, amounting to over 117,000,000 lbs., of which 111,000,000 lbs. were to the Shipping List, is an increase of over ten per cent. compared with last year, and it is through foreshadows receipts for the whole year from the Sandwich Islands of fully 200,000,000 lbs.

SIR Charles Dilke has been defeated by a small majority. As he was elected before by a very narrow margin, the slight change in the vote can be easily accounted for by the influence of the scandal with which his name will always be associated. Mr. Gladstone has had hard enough work to educate England up to home rule without being handicapped by such an associate as Dilke. This is one of those defeats that are better than victories.

A CONGRESSIONAL committee has just given ear to an argument by a representative of the Confederate bondholders, who urged the relemption of those bonds by the United States Government. The point made on behalf of the English bondholders was that the United States should not have allowed one part of its citizens (the South) to sell bonds abroad; that the Federal Constitution forbids the Southern States from paying these debts; and that the United States, therefore, should assume responsibility for them.

THE Toledo Blade observes, that aside from all personal feeling among the leaders of parties, it has become evident that it is a question now of the common people against classes, and that the latter are fighting for their very existence. The extending of the suffrage has brought to the front many questions of rights and privileges, and the Irish matter will simply force their answers to be made earlier than they would have been otherwise. And it seems a fitting thing that England's greatest statesman should be the one to champion the causes of the masses against the privileged few, whose only claim to govern is hereditary, and therefore, in these days of Republicanism, becoming less powerful every hour.

MY LADY'S MONEY

By WILKIE COLLINS.

AN EPISODE IN THE LIFE OF A YOUNG GIRL.

PART THE FIRST.

THE DISAPPEARANCE.

CHAPTER IV.—Concluded.

She set the way back to the door. Hardyman, naturally enough, was slow to follow her. When a man is fascinated by the charm of youth and beauty he is in no hurry to transfer his attention to a sick animal in a bath. Hardyman seized on the first excuse that he could devise for keeping Isabel to himself—that is to say, for keeping her in the drawing room.

"I think I shall be better able to help you," he said, "if you will tell me something about the dog first."

Even his accent in speaking had altered to a certain degree. The quiet, dreary monotone in which he habitually spoke quickened a little under his present excitement. As for Isabel, she was too deeply interested in Tommie's welfare to suspect that she was being made the victim of a stratagem. She left the door and returned to Hardyman with eager eyes. "What can I tell you, sir?" she asked, innocently.

Hardyman pressed his advantage without mercy.

"You can tell me what sort of a dog he is?"

"Yes, sir."

"How old he is?"

"Yes, sir."

"What his temper is?—what his illness is?—what disease his father and mother?—what——"

Isabel's head began to turn giddy. "One thing at a time, sir!" she interposed, with a gesture of entreaty. "His name is Tommie. We are obliged to call him by it, because he won't answer to any other than the name he had when my lady bought him. But we spell it with an 'ie' at the end, which makes it less vulgar than Tommy with a 'y.' I am very sorry, sir. I forget what else you wanted to know. Please to come in here, and my lady will tell you everything."

She tried to get back to the door of the boudoir. Hardyman, fixing his eyes on the pretty, changeful face that looked up at him with such innocent confidence in his authority, drew her away again from the door by the one means at his disposal. He returned to his questions about Tommie.

"Wait a little, please. What sort of a dog is he?"

Isabel turned back again from the door. To describe Tommie was a labor of love. "He is the most beautiful dog in the world!" the girl began, with kindling eye. "He has the most exquisite white curly hair and two light brown patches on his back, and, oh! such lovely dark eyes! They call him a Scotch terrier. When he is well his appetite is truly wonderful—nothing comes amiss to him, sir, from pate de foie gras to potatoes. He has his enemies, poor dear, though you wouldn't think it. People who won't put up with being bitten by him (what shocking tempers one does meet with, to be sure!) call him a mongrel. Isn't it a shame? Please come in and see him, sir; my lady will be tired of waiting."

Another journey to the door followed those words, checked instantly by a serious objection.

"Stop a minute! You must tell me what his temper is, or I can do nothing for him."

Isabel returned once more, feeling that it was really serious this time. Her gravity was even more charming than her gayety. As she lifted her face to him, with large, solemn eyes, expressive of her sense of responsibility, Hardyman would have given every horse in his stables to have had the privilege of taking her in his arms and kissing her.

"Tommie has the temper of an angel with the people he likes," she said. "When he bites, it generally means that he objects to strangers. He loves my lady, and he loves Mr. Moody, and he loves me, and—and I think that's all. This way, sir, if you please. I am sure I heard my lady call."

"No," said Hardyman, in his immovable obstinate way. "Nobody called. About this dog's temper? Does he take to any strangers? What sort of people does he bite in general?"

Isabel's pretty lips began to curl upward at the corners in a quiet smile. Hardyman's last imbecile question had opened her eyes to the true state of the case. Still, Tommie's future was in this strange gentleman's hands; she felt bound to consider that. And, moreover, it was no every day event in Isabel's experience to fascinate a famous personage, who was also a magnificent and perfectly dressed man. She ran the risk of wasting another minute or two and went on with the memoirs of Tommie.

"I must own, sir," she resumed, "that he behaves a little ungratefully—even to strangers who take an interest in him. When he gets lost in the streets (which is very often), he sits down on the pavement and howls till he collects a pitying crowd round him; and when they try to read his name and address on his collar he snaps at them. The servants generally find him and bring him back, and as soon as he gets home he turns round on the doorstep and snaps at the servants. I think it must be his fun. You should see him sitting up in his chair at dinner time, waiting to be helped, with his forepaw on the edge of the table, like the hands of a gentleman at a public dinner making a speech. But, oh!" cried Isabel, checking herself, with the tears in her eyes, "how can I talk of him in this way when he is so dreadfully ill? Some of them say it's bronchitis, and some say it's his liver. Only yesterday I took him to the front door to give him a little air, and he stood still on the pavement, quite stupefied. For the first time in his life he snapped at nobody who went by; and oh, dear, he hadn't even the heart to smell a lamp post!"

Isabel had barely stated this last afflicting circumstance when the memoirs of Tommie were suddenly cut short by the voice of Lady Lydiard—really calling this time—from the inner room.

"Isabel! Isabel!" cried her ladyship, "what are you about?"

Isabel ran to the door of the boudoir and threw it open. "Go in, sir! Pray go in!" she said.

"Without you?" Hardyman asked.

"I will follow you, sir. I have something to do for her ladyship first."

She still held the door open, and pointed entreatingly to the passage which led to the boudoir. "I shall be blamed, sir," she said, "if you don't go in."

This statement of the case left Hardyman no alternative. He presented himself to Lady Lydiard without another moment of delay.

Having closed the drawing room door on him, Isabel waited a little, absorbed in her own thoughts.

She was now perfectly well aware of the effect which she had produced on Hardyman. Her vanity, it is not to be denied, was flattered by his admiration—he was so grand and so tall, and he had such fine large eyes. The girl looked prettier than ever as she stood with her head down and her color heightened, smiling to herself. A clock on the chimney piece striking the half hour roused her. She cast one look at the glass as she passed it, and went to the table at which Lady Lydiard had been writing.

Methodical Mr. Moody, in submitting to be employed as bath attendant upon Tommie, had not forgotten the interests of his mistress. He reminded her ladyship that she had left her letter, with a bank note inclosed in it, unsealed. Absorbed in the dog, Lady Lydiard answered: "Isabel is doing nothing, let Isabel seal it. Show Mr. Hardyman in here," she continued, turning to Isabel, "and then seal a letter of mine which you will find on the table." "And when you have sealed it," careful Mr. Moody added, "put it back on the table; I will take charge of it when her ladyship has done with me."

Such were the special instructions which now detained Isabel in the drawing room. She lit the taper, and closed and sealed the open envelope, without feeling curiosity enough even to look at the address. Mr. Hardyman was the uppermost subject in her thoughts. Leaving the sealed letter on the table she returned to the fireplace and studied her own charming face attentively in the looking glass. The time passed, and Isabel's reflection was still the subject of Isabel's contemplation. "He must see many beautiful ladies," she thought, veering backward and forward between pride and humility. "I wonder what he sees in me?"

The clock struck the hour. Almost at the same moment the boudoir door opened and Robert Moody, released at last from attendance on Tommie, entered the drawing room.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

A HOLIDAY.

Is the age sordid, impotent and cold?
None the less sweetly shrill the thrushes call;
None the less swiftly snowy blossoms fall
On slim young grasses and buds manifold
Where kingcups rise their chalices of gold
As tender breezes drift the hawthorn's pall;
None the less milky sway the chestnuts tall;
Or royally the large white clouds enrolled,
Where up the azure mighty branches climb,
On eyes that see and hearts that contemplate
No shadow falls of days degenerate—
They reckon but by seasons' change the time;
Here the vain babblings of unlovely hours
Cringe into silence before holier powers.

HOW TO "KILL" ENGINES.

An Engineer Indicates a Number of Ways in Which It May Be Done.

"Tell me how St. Louis strikers 'kill' so many engines and render them useless for service, will you?" asked a reporter for The Denver Tribune of an engineer who was busy oiling the links of his engine in one of the local round-house yards.

The runner looked over his customer and asked: "Are you a reporter?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I've nothing to say. Besides, I am too busy now to talk anyhow. Catch on to some one else."

The questioner found some one else in the "barn" whom he knew, and who would talk.

"How they 'kill' engines, hey? Well, the quickest and surest way is to take this away," the runner replied, laying his hand on the throttle lever. "Shut the throttle by pushing in the lever pin, disconnect the fulcrum connections with the boiler head, stick the lever under your coat and march off with it and the engine is useless. Even if she is near the machine shop it will require a couple of days to replace the lever at a cost of $14, as it must be forged and turned; and the brass throttle ratchet must be cast, filed, and polished. That is much better than to carry off connecting-rods, as I saw represented recently in an illustrated paper. It would take two men at least to cart away one connecting-rod, which you know connects the crank-pin of the forward driver with the cross-head, though that disables a locomotive of course."

"Several Vandalia trains were killed by the steam guages being knocked off, so the dispatches said."

"If that is all the dispatches said, they didn't cover all the ground, because the water-glasses would be left, and an engineer can run without the one if he has the other. If the gauges are knocked out, the holes can be readily plugged up and new gauges only cost 75 cents each. But if gauges and the water-glass with its fillings are busted, the engine is no good."

"Any attempt to run will end in burning her flues and crown sheet. You see where these parts are covered everything is lovely but with low water they burn out. I've seen a burnt crown sheet dropped down from its braces almost into the grate. An explosion occurs at such times which tears everything to pieces."

"Are there other parts of the machinery that can be taken away to 'kill' a locomotive?"

"Oh, my, yes. Take down the eccentric links or take off the valve stems and your engine is dead. The favorite way, when an engine is on the road, is to put out the fire, open the blow-off cock which you see standing out from the side of the fire box, under the cab, and let out all the water. Then the engine must be hauled to the nearest tank and filled up before she can be fired up.

"As for killing engines in the round-houses, the strikers remove such of the parts I have mentioned as will require the longest time to replace, and very likely at the same time let the water all out of the boilers."—St. Louis Letter.

Speaking of the Congo Climate.

From my experience I do not doubt that Europeans can live there with comparative safety and comfort. I have lived there myself for nearly a year. If a young man in good natural health observes carefully the rules which apply to a tropical country, being temperate in both eating and drinking, there is no reason why his health should not be retained. Unbridled enthusiasm leads people to all kinds of discretions. If Europeans work as hard as at home they must fail. Other causes, for which persons are themselves responsible, lead to the loss of health. I have known persons to live there nearly three years without sickness. Lieut. Taunt, U. S. N., was one of them. There is no distinction as to wet and dry seasons. Rain falls once every two or three days, generally in the night. The temperature maintains an average of 85 to 90 degrees all the year round. The nights are cool and pleasant, with the temperature at 70 to 75 degrees. There are a few musquitoes, but they are not troublesome.—Missionary's Letter.

A Reporter at the Circus.

Queen Victoria is not partial to journalists as a class. But her determination to exclude anything in the shape of a newspaper representative from the recent circus performance at Windsor castle was frustrated by one enterprising journalist, who dressed himself up as a groom and held up paper-hoops for the equestriennes to jump through. This dauntless individual had a narrow escape, for his very literary-looking spectacles did not favor the impression that he was a circus groom and wrge the subject of royal suspicion and remark.—Chicago Tribune.

After Observing the Sun's Spots.

A number of able European scientists have been engaged in observing the spots on the sun with a view of ascertaining whether they have any perceptible effect upon the climate of the earth. After comparing notes they have come to the conclusion that, as far as they have been able to determine, they can not say positively whether the activity of the sun, as shown by the spots, means a decrease of the solar heat received by the earth or the contrary.—Scientific Journal.

Telegraph Poles of Malleable Iron.

The Canadian government has adopted for its telegraph lines on the northwestern prairies a pole composed of malleable galvanized iron, one and a half inches in diameter at top, and two and a quarter inches diameter at bottom. The entire pole weighs less than fifty pounds.—Chicago Herald.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

Cassiar District.

GENTLEMEN:

As you are again called upon to select a representative to attend to your interests in the Legislature, I offer myself as a candidate for that honorable position, at the request of a number of electors, and respectfully solicit your support and votes.

I am opposed to the general policy of the present Government; fully believing that if they should be retained in power for another term, their past practice of frittering away the people's money for the purpose of buying votes, by unjust discrimination, will ultimately end in heavy indebtedness and consequent increased taxation.

The government having had a largely increased revenue, principally augmented by land payments and sales thereof, have so manipulated the public monies that the full benefits which ought to have accrued to the province have not been realized. The debt of the province consequently has been largely increased, without any corresponding benefit.

As the Government have alienated very large tracts of the public domain, without the country receiving an equivalent, there is not any guarantee that they will not pursue the same policy in the future.

The whole conduct of the government, during the last four sessions, has proved conclusively to unbiased, thinking men, that they really were not possessed of any real defined policy, but moved from day to day as a few of their servile followers and dictators indicated.

In the matter of the Settlement Bill they acknowledged that they could only deal with the propositions which it contained as dictated by the Dominion Government, stating in the Legislature, when the bill was before that body, that they were not allowed to make any alteration in the smallest matter, but that our Legislature had to accept or reject it as it was, clinching that position with the statement that the local powers could not even change the stroke of a "t" or the dot of an "i." Was this not very humiliating?

The conduct of the premier, in divulging the intended action of the Executive, is in itself a crime of that reprehensible character, which ought to consign him and his government to oblivion for ever.

As the future prosperity of this Province depends largely upon wise legislation, I am of opinion that a scheme should be perfected, with the object of enabling those to reclaim agricultural lands who may not have the means to do so. A plan of this kind having obtained elsewhere, with beneficial results, — and if carried into effect would enable our farmers to supply the wants of this country; thereby keeping the money among ourselves which now goes to our cousins across the line.

Knowing that one of the most important of our latent resources is quartz mining, a scheme ought to be promulgated which would tend at once to its development.

Seeing that British Columbia owes so much of her placer mines, the Government ought to be instructed to encourage a search for new fields, by offering a bonus by way of a percentage to the discoverer, on the mining licenses issued, or claims recorded.

One of the measures which ought to engross the attention of the next Legislature is a system of assisted white immigration for the purpose of supplying help to replace that class conceded by nearly all to be objectionable.

Believing that the true interests of our Province are general, and not local, I am in favor of the Legislature assisting the establishment of a ferry from the termini of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Island, knowing that in its accomplishment the mainland would not be injured; at the same time the Island undoubtedly would be benefited.

The encouragement of manufactures, ought, under all circumstances, to receive the best attention of the new House, so that employment at home may be had for both old and young.

The Alaska boundary ought to be established and fixed so as to prevent complications in the future, which could be done most satisfactory and at less expense to both countries if a general average line between several points were agreed upon. An agreement could be more easily arrived at now than at a time when valuable international interests may crop up.

Generally, the particular interests of the district, as well as those of the whole province, if elected, shall at all times claim my best attention and endeavors.

Yours, very respectfully,

JOHN GRANT.

Supreme Court.

In the matter of ALEX. McLEAN and others, Plaintiffs; and the CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF VICTORIA and THOMAS RUSSELL, the Water Commissioner, Defendants, and of the Corporation of Victoria Water Works Act, 1873, and the Amending Acts.

ON THE APPLICATION of Mr Russell, the Water Commissioner, and by and with the consent of Mr. McLean, acting on behalf of himself and others who obtained the Injunction in this cause, and on the undertaking of the Mayor by and on behalf of the Corporation, and Mr. Russell, the Water Commissioner, that a fair and ample supply of water shall be furnished to the residents and taxpayers on the upper levels of the city for and during the period hereinafter named and with a view to enable an available plan to be considered and matured for securing an ultimate permanent supply to the residents of the upper levels as well as those of the other parts of the city. It is hereby ordered that the period named in the Order of this Court dated the 27th day of May last, for the temporary suspension of the Injunction be hereby extended to and until the 10th day of August next, without prejudice to the rights of the Mayor and Corporation, the Water Commissioner, or the parties obtaining the Injunction, and with leave to all or either of the said parties to apply in case of non-compliance with the order.

SPECIALIST,
Proprietor & Consulting Physician of the Only Private Dispensary on the Pacific Coast, now permanently located at 132, 134, Third Street, Portland, Or.
DR. VANMONCISCAR has made the treatment of Private Diseases of Men a special study and practice for many years. Over 4000 cases treated yearly. Recent cases of private diseases cured in a short time. Ulcers Humors and Blotches on Face or Body cured without giving Mercury or other Poisons. Mercury is the curse of the human race. Your children will suffer from its effects. Avoid it as you would avoid any deadly Drug, and use no more. These diseases are being cured at this Dispensary without Mercury.
DR. VANMONCISCAR is a graduate of a regular Medical College, is well known over the United States and Canada by Thousands of Old and Young Men he has Cured, and it is a well known fact that for years he has confined himself to the study and treatment of Sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr. Vanmonciscar addresses himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefit, and who, in fact, have done them more harm than good. Medicine, like all other sciences, is progressive, and every year shows proof of its advance. By a combination of remedies of great curative power, Dr. Vanmonciscar has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief, but permanent cure.
YOUNG MEN
who are suffering from the effects of youthful indiscretions showing some of the following symptoms: Nervous and Physical Debility, Impotency, Unnatural Emissions, Abuse of the system, Exhausted Vitality, Confusion of Ideas, Dull and Loss of Brilliancy in the Eye, Aversion to Society, Despondency, Pimples on the Face, Loss of Energy, and Frequency of Blushing. You may be in the first stages, but remember you are fast approaching the last. Do not let false pride and sham modesty deter you from attending to your ailments. Many a bright and naturally gifted young man, endowed with genius, has permitted the case to run on and on, until remorse racked his intellect, and finally death claimed its victim. Remember that "Procrastination is the thief of time." So lay aside your pride, and consult one who thoroughly understands your ailment, and who will know your case, and find permanent relief for an ailment that has made day a drudgery and night hideous. Thousands upon thousands of men in good standing in the social world, of prominence in the world are to-day suffering from the fruits of their doings, the seeds of which were sown during moments to thoughtlessness. Young man turn and gaze upon thy companion, or see the mirror for proof to substantiate this fact. Oh! could he control the arm of Fate, or had he his life to live again, then I could not appeal to you more sincerely. Let your mind wander back to the much cherished counsels of a loving father, and remember what you are to-day. Though you may for the present fill your station in society, the time is as inevitable as fate when your brilliancy will, like a flash, depart, leaving you a stranger and wretch, desolate, forgotten and lost; so embrace the opportunity and enjoy life and happiness longer. If you claim to be a man, act your part manly. Do not console yourself with the thought that Nature will help itself, for in doing so you not only fan the flame, but wreck Nature and yourself. Remember, "Large oaks from little acorns grow;" "Little the germinate fatal disease."
Middle-aged Men,
married or single, who are prematurely old as a result of excesses or youthful follies, and who are troubled by too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and finding a deposit of your sediment in the urine, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will first be of a thin or milky hue, and again changing to a dark or bloated appearance, causing serious debility and loss of Vitality. Remember, this is the second stage of Seminal Weakness. In all such cases a perfect cure is guaranteed, and a radical restoration of the Genito-Urinary Organs. All interviews and letters are sacredly confidential, letters packed so as not to excite curiosity, and sent by express, if full description of case is given; but one personal interview in all cases preferred. Patients treated by mail or express. Call early and avoid crowding. Office hours: 9 A. M. to 8 P. M.; Sundays, 10 A. M. to 2 P. M.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Ice cream freezers at E. G. Prior's Government street.

—If you want a modern building, have your plans made by Fisher the Architect.*

—Richard Carney paid the usual penalty at the police court to-day for imbibing too much tangle-foot.

—Millinery, Feathers and Flowers at cost. Childrens mantles and jackets at cost at the City House. †

—All saloons and hotel bars in Vancouver were religiously closed last Sabbath.

—Ice cream in quantities to suit, delivered in any part of the city by Young Bros., New England Bakery.

—T. J. Jones, L.D.S., has removed his dental rooms over the new Bank of British Columbia, corner of Government and Fort streets. Telephone Call No. 507.*

—Kempster Bros., of this city, are sending a scow load of 40,000 bricks to Vancouver, which they are offering for sale at $9 per thousand.

—Ladies' Indian Gauze, Summer Merino and Silk and Wool Underware. Lightest goods manufactured for warm weather, at the City House.

—There were naval manoeuvres at Esquimalt last evening by the men of the war ships which wound up with a social dance.

—Signor Agius is preparing a choice programme for next Saturday evening, when a benefit to one of the bandsmen will be given at Temperance Hall.

—Mrs. E. J. Miller will re-open her classes in painting and drawing, July 14th, in room over Shears & Page's dry goods store, Government street.

—Our weather is beautiful just now, quite a striking contrast to San Francisco, where the mercury was 121 in the shade last Sunday.

—Mrs. V. A. LePrince, Fashionable Dressmaker; wedding and mourning dresses a specialty. Dress makers wanted. Government street, next to Bank of British Columbia. †

—The remains of another victim of the Vancouver fire have been discovered near False Creek; they were recognized as those of a Frenchman who has been missing for the last month.

—DRESSMAKERS desirous of making up the most stylish and fashionable COSTUMES and MANTLES should inspect the new trimmings lately received by the City House.

—The friends of Mr. Wm. Brown of the Vancouver Herald, have subscribed $100 to aid that gentleman in resuscitating the Herald, which was the pioneer journal of Vancouver.

—Chief Poundkeeper, recently released from the Manitoba penitentiary, died suddenly at Gleechen, N. W. T., on the 5th inst., from the effects of the bursting of a blood vessel.

—Many people find pleasure sailing and rowing up the Arm these beautiful nights. Last evening there were an unusual number of pleasure-seekers and the fun was enlivened by a band of music.

—Mr. A. G. Ferguson has decided to erect a two story brick building in Vancouver on the site of the block destroyed on the 13th ult. A cement side walk will be laid in front of this block.

—On his arrival at Port Moody the Hon. Thos. White was presented with an address by Col. Scott, on behalf of the "progress party" of the terminal city, to which the minister made an appropriate response.

—F. C. Innes & Co., Real Estate Brokers, and Financial Agents, Vancouver, B. C., attend promptly to all enquiries about the terminal city; Free Reading Room for use of strangers arriving in Vancouver. *

—They actually arrest people in Vancouver for playing poker. Three lovers of the seductive game contributed $10 each a few days ago for violating the city ordinance for the suppression of gambling.

—An authenticated rumor states that Sir Frederick Middleton has resigned his position as commander of the forces because of the militia squabble over firing the Queen's birthday salute in Toronto.

—Sherman Heck, supposed to be one of Vancouver's "solid" men, has skipped, leaving many creditors behind to mourn the loss of hundreds on account of this graceless scamp. It appears he is an adept at skedaddling from his creditors.

Hall & Quackenbush, Vancouver, B. C., have the most complete list of business and suburban properties for sale at the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Price and terms to suit all parties. Inquiries by mail promptly answered. References. *

—The North Pacific brought freight for: A Olner, C F Millard, D McPhadden, H Tilton, H Saunders, H Harvey, J Dwyer & Co, J A Jackson, Marvin & Tilton, Nicholles & Renouf, Royal City Planing Mills, S J Pitts, S Heck, S Leiser, W Eckert, Welch Rithet & Co.

—Savory & Co., having a large stock of pure apple cider, made solely from Victoria fruit, are offering it by the cask cheap. Special rates to hotels and restaurants; a rare chance to those wishing to bottle. Orders can be left at Bossi & Giesselmann's, corner Yates and Broad streets.

—The Northern Pacific Railway Company have placed one of their elegant dining cars on the Tacoma-Portland route. Hitherto passengers had their breakfast on the steamer at 6 o'clock, and dinner on the Kalama transfer ferry while crossing the Columbia. Travelers will appreciate the new move.

—Passengers by the North Pacific: J Peoples, M Young, W Kimpell, Mrs Wingart, Mrs Hendrickson and two chil, Thos Allison, S Wood, Miss Easy, WM Thayer, O C Hastings, J G Malone and wf, O H Holcome, W F Ford, D Johnson, P Allison, H Miller, W Watson, Miss Lumbar, T G Wilson, Miss Hooper, M Randal, F Randal, Miss Sheean, L Sacks.

—The Oregonian says the salmon are coming into the river a little more freely, and canners and fishermen are living in hopes of a "July run" which will enable them to swell the pack to something like an average one. Yesterday's catch, with the catch of Sunday added, enabled some canneries to run all day, which they have not done before this season. The fish taken of late have been very large, and all that is wanted is more of them.

—The Sunday liquor law is being rigidly enforced at Vancouver. The chief of police having notified dealers that he would carry out the law strictly, and press for a fine in every case where liquor was sold during prohibited hours, thirsty citizens are compelled to perform several strategic movements before they can stand before the bar, and even then they do not consider themselves very secure from the argus-eyes of Hercules and his subordinates. In the enforcement of law and order, the young city starts well.

GOSNELL'S SUGAR CURED HAMS are now ready at his store, corner Cormorant and Douglas streets. *

INDISCREET.

It will be conceded by most of the consistent supporters of the present local government that on such an occassion as that of the banquet given last night, by the citizens of Victoria, in honor of the visit of the Hon. THOS. WHITE, one of Canada's leading statesmen, and British Columbia's constant defender, it was bad taste in any of our local men to have introduced, in the course of remarks which they were called upon to make, anything of a pointed political nature, tending to the laudation of either the party in or out of power. One gentleman so far forgot himself while proposing a toast as to leave the impression on the minds of strangers that every act of the present government had been acceptable to nearly all the people of this province as evidenced by the late election, and that he personally was in accord with their policy in toto. Uncalled for praise, so particularly pointed, invites criticism, on the spot. Gentlemen who might have answered the remarks referred to displayed much good sense by treating the unwise allusions with the contempt which they so justly deserved. To illustrate how far that gentleman was warranted in making the statements which he did, we will glance at the result of the vote cast throughout the province, so far as it has come to hand, by which it is shown that the total vote cast in favor of the government candidates was 5,495, and against, 5,531, being a majority of 36. The figures speak for themselves, and it was only through a combination of circumstances, well known to all, that the government obtained a majority of supporters.

FUN ON THE BRISTOL.

The Casino Opera Co. will appear in the above opera at the Victoria to-morrow evening. "The Widow O'Brien" is nothing more or less than "Fun on the Bristol," and the old saying, "A rose by any other name," etc., will answer for a criticism of the piece. Mr. Kinross has got his orchestra into almost perfect shape, and the work of the orchestra receives as much applause as any part of the performance, the overture being exceptionally fine. The stage setting is said to be very artistic, especially in the second act, the steamer Bristol being so faithfully represented one night almost imagine himself on that magnificent palace, the Olympian. Mr. Kelly as the Widow is very good. His brogue is most unctuous, and his acting all that could be desired. Miss Manfred gave evidence of her very pleasing voice in an entirely new manner by her rendering of some very difficult music in the burlesque on "Il Trovatore." Mr. Tenbrooke made a hit as the darkey porter; his singing was very good. The Sailors' Hornpipe, as danced by Miss Fannie Sanger and another of the chorus girls, is one of the pleasantest features of the performance.

VERY CONFIDENT.

The following snarl is from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and speaks for itself: "A letter was sent to Victoria to-day, to the Amity base ball club, by the captain of the Reds, asking the Amities if they would not play another game of ball here as soon as possible, the winning club to take 60 and the defeated nine 40 per cent of the net gate receipts. It is to be hoped that the Amities will accept this challenge and give the spectators, who were present on the 5th instant, and the additional number who would be present on a clear day, a chance to see how bad the Reds could knock them out in a full game. There would no doubt be a large attendance and the Amities could take away 40 per cent of the receipts netted."

VISIT OF BRITISH GENERALS.

General Sir Donald Stewart, V. C., and General Sir John McNeill of the Imperial army, after their arrival in Montreal, spent several pleasant days fishing with Sir George Stephen on his branch of the Metapedia river where they had some excellent sport. General Stewart distinguished himself in India, Afghanistan and recently in Egypt, and General McNeill, of Egyptian fame, is well known in Canada, having accompanied the Princess Louise to the Dominion. They left for Ottawa where the private car "Saskatchewan" has been forwarded to take them through to Port Moody.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

On account of my new place of business not being yet ready for occupancy, I shall continue my clearance sale of Groceries at the old stand, corner of Douglas and Cormorant streets, for one week longer. Will sell good Tea, Green, Black or Mixed, for 25 cents per pound; best Roll Butter, 75 cents; best light brown Sugar, 12 lbs. for $1; 11 lbs. of the best Granulated Sugar for $1, and all other goods in proportion. Give us a call.

N. PORTMAN.

HOP PICKERS.

T. G. Wilson, of the Snoqualmie Hop Ranch, Washington Territory, is in town engaging Indians for hop picking. He says the price this season for hops will justify growers in paying one dollar per box for picking. This is twenty-five cents more than was paid last year. There will be a large number of Indians required to gather the crop on the sound, and this work will be the means of distributing about two hundred thousand dollars to pickers alone.

MINNIE HAUK.

It is again rumored that Minnie Hauk the famous prima-donna is coming out Northwest next fall. No effort should be spared by our fashionable and music loving classes to have Minnie Hauk come to Victoria. It is said that the great prima-donna will be supported by a superb company and she will be heard not only in concert but in acts of grand opera in full costume and stage settings.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

A Sunday School Convention will be held on Saturday and Sunday next. The meeting will be addressed by Rev. W. E. Jacobs, of Chicago; Rev. J. E. Gilbert, D. D., of Indianapolis, Ind.; Rev. J. A. Warden, Philadelphia; Henry Plant, Minneapolis, and J. Q. A. Henry, of Portland, and others. Date and place and meetings will be announced through the press.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

We wish to call special attention to a nice assortment of millinery and straw goods now being opened which will be found of the latest styles and most fashionable colors. Also to a variety of new dress materials plushes, laces, mitts, gloves, etc. These goods comprise the latest novelties in the market, and were selected personally by Mr. E. White, and are marked at prices that will insure a speedy sale.

BROWN & WHITE.

TRAINS DELAYED.

The train did not arrive from the east yesterday in time to connect with the steamer. The delay is due to burning of a bridge near Farwell, which may impede traffic for some days.

CUPID'S CAPTIVES.

Marriage of Mr. Northing P. Snowden to Miss Emily Dunsmuir.

The announcement of the marriage of Capt. Northing P. Snowden to Miss Emily Dunsmuir, daughter of Mr. Robt. Dunsmuir, M.P.P., attracted a large congregation of the friends of the contracting parties and others to the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church this morning. The fair sex, of course, were considerably in the majority. The sacred edifice had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. At 11:10 the bridegroom arrived in company with his groomsmen, Messrs. W. M. Pike of Saturna Island, John Croft and Arthur Jones, followed a few minutes later by the bride and her bridesmaids Miss Jessie Dunsmuir, Miss Maude Dunsmuir and Miss Bryden. As the wedding party walked up the aisle the organ, under the skillful direction of Miss Anderson, pealed forth the magnificent strains of the "Wedding March." The officiating clergyman, Rev. Mr. Stephen, then read the beautiful marriage service of the Presbyterian Church and pronounced the twain husband and wife. The bride was given away by her father and looked lovely in a magnificent white satin dress, Pompadour style, with Honiton lace and large bridal veil with blossoms. The wedding party then drove to the mansion of Mr. Dunsmuir, James Bay, where the wedding breakfast was partaken of. The happy couple left at 1 o'clock by the Sound steamer for a tour through the Yellowstone Park country, followed by the congratulations and good wishes of their many friends. THE TIMES joins in wishing them a long and happy life together. On their return home a reception will be held.

CITIES OF REFUGE.

Another American Defaulter Supposed to be in Canada.

Philadelphia despatches announce the most recent developments in the bond robbery from the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal Company, are that the two expert accountants engaged in going over the books get deeper and deeper into the mire of crooked figures. They find that the irregularities date back probably 25 years, and in that interval the loan has been wonderfully tangled. President Gillingham said:—"Of the entire sum stolen it is probable that one-half was to pay interest. The average market price of the bonds for years was about 75 per cent. of their face value, so that it is possible that no more than $300,000 in cash was ever used by the two men. It is generally conceded that the greater part of this was used by Lesley, who was a man of expensive habits and bad morals." The Guarantee Company of North America, which was on Wilson's bond for $10,000, is a Canadian concern, and if he is found in the Dominion he will be arrested for violating his bond. He left his wife destitute.

SUPPOSED TO BE AT MONTREAL.

From Montreal it is learned that the whole police and detective force are on the look out for J. A. L. Wilson, the defaulting treasurer of the Delaware & Chesapeake Canal Company to the extent of some $600,000, who is supposed to be in the city. The facts are these: The company raised a six per cent. loan in 1856 for thirty years, which was due on July 1st, and arrangements had been made for extending it at 5 per cent. President Gillingham, looking over his mail on Wednesday morning, found a letter from Wilson, who had not reported for duty that morning, which informed him that instead of the loan standing at $1,975,000 the exact amount had been extended by him to $2,502,263.72. He confessed having made the over issue over a year ago. He is supposed to have brought a "boodle" of over $100,000 to Canada.

DESTRUCTION OF THE BASTILE.

To-day, the 14th of July, will ever be a memorable one in French history, as having witnessed, in 1789, the demolition by the Paris populace, of the grim old fortress known as the Bastile. It was a typical incident, representing the end of a wicked system. Much heroism was exhibited by the multitude in their attack upon the bastile. The anniversary of this historical event is frequently observed by the sons of France, and it is proposed by several gentlemen of that nationality in Victoria to dine together to-night, to mark their appreciation of the value of their ancestors, who destroyed one of the most infamous prisons that ever cursed a nation.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Supt. Roycraft caused the arrest last night of a young man named John S. Harrison, who is charged with having stolen $30 00 from the St. John, N. B., postoffice in March last. At the time of the robbery the accused was a clerk in the St. John postoffice at a salary of $400 and shortly afterward resigned and went to Boston, going from thence to California. He arrived in British Columbia on the 28th of last month. Since resigning his position in St. John, he has been spending money lavishly which naturally creates a suspicion. An investigation will be held.

SHOOTING IN VANCOUVER.

A man named Stott, when baffled in an effort to collect a debt owed to him by a man who lived in a cabin near the water, in Vancouver, became insensed, or temporarily insane, and opened fire from a revolver on two men, James Fenton and Robert Henniger. His aim was unsteady and no harm was done. One of the men assaulted, retaliated by giving Stott a terrible beating during which he was severely cut about the head. The parties were arrested.

MUSIC.

The band of H. M. S. Triumph under the leadership of Signor Agius will perform the following airs on Beacon Hill next Saturday between 4 and 6 o'clock:

Grand March "Des Heros" ..... Williams
Overture, Stradella ..... Flotow
Selection, Fleur de The ..... Lecocq
Valse, Kunstler Leben ..... Strauss
Selection, English Airs ..... Godfrey
Galop, Legacy ..... Agnis
God Bless our Sailor Prince
God Save the Queen

MR. JOHN, M. P. P., AS TREASURER.

A correspondent, "South Saanich farmer," writes THE TIMES urging the claims of Mr. John, M. P. P., to the portfolio of Finance Minister. Our correspondent claims that having twice received the endorsement of the electors by triumphantly returning him that he is fairly entitled to the position. He further asserts that there is a decided feeling in the district in his favor and that "the government cannot ignore his claim."

SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

A west bound cattle train ran off the track on Monday night at the point where the New Westminster branch joins the main line. Four of the cattle cars went down, killing about seventy head, owned by Beak & Co., this city. The fireman, Bachus, was severely scalded. The accident was caused by an open switch.

WATSON HEARD FROM.

Thomas Watson, Victoria's champion runner, won his first race in Portland last Saturday. The starters were five and one took the lead for three laps when the Victoria boy passed him and won with ease. Victoria's reputation is safe in the young man's hands.

PERSONAL MENTION.

John Croft, Chemainus, is in the city.

H. G. Mercer, Bay Cit., Michigan, is in the city.

Mr. John Angus will visit Winnipeg next week.

Mr. James Brady, mining engineer, arrived last night from Kootenay.

Mrs. Thos. Dunn, of Vancouver, and family, have gone to Toronto.

Mr. Don. Chisholm, New Westminster, returned home this morning.

Mr. Wm. Power, Moodyville, was a passenger by the Louise to the mainland this morning.

Jas. Peebles, St. Catharines, is at the Oriental.

J. W. Driscoll, Winnipeg, is in the city.

At the Oriental: L. G. Wilson, Seattle; O. H. Holcomb, Port Townsend.

Messrs. J. S. Yates, Capt. Lewis, Capt. Pamphlet and Miss Rate were passengers on the Yosemite for the mainland this morning.

Mr. Thomas R. Simpson, a well-known Winnipeger, arrived in the city last night and is registered at the Oriental.

J. G. Malone and Wm. Campbell, of Portland, are visiting the northern metropolis.

Dr. McQuigan, of Vancouver, is registered at the Driard. He returns home on Friday.

Mrs. Col. Houghton, of Winnipeg, who is a daughter of Robert Dunsmuir, Esq., M. P. P., arrived in this city from the east yesterday.

J. Bryden and wife, J. Harvey and wife, R. and J. Bryden and Marcus Wolfe, all Nanaimoites, are registered at the Driard.

Mr. Campbell Shaw, of Vancouver, is in the city. He reports new Vancouver to be as large as the old city was at the time of the cremation. The people are hopeful, energetic and self-reliant, and is and to triumph over every difficulty.

Mr. W. H. Culver, of the legal firm of Messrs. Culver, Aikens & Hamilton, barristers, Winnipeg, accompanied by Mrs. Culver, is in the city en route to San Francisco, from which point they will return via the Union Pacific and the St. Paul and Manitoba lines.

Mr. J. M. Hannaford, the popular and energetic traffic manager of the Northern Pacific railway, is now on a visit to Portland. It is stated that he will extend his visit to the Sound ports and Victoria, with the view of arranging for future deliveries from the east and vice versa.

Messrs. Watson, Bowen and Bannerman, three Calgary merchants, who have been interviewing our wholesale merchants with a view of forming business connections, left for home last night. They will spend some days around the terminus before crossing the mountains.

Mr. James Brady, an eminent authority on minerals returned to the city yesterday from an extended trip on the mainland. This gentleman, with Mr. Cochrane, a wealthy Scotch capitalist, is largely interested in mining matters on Findlay Creek in the Selkirks. The prospects of this mine are of the most encouraging character, the samples extracted yielding such a per centage of the precious metals as to warrant Mr. Brady and his associates in entertaining the belief that their mine is certain to be a very lucrative one.

Geo. H. Ham, a household name throughout the Northwest and Ontario, the genial and energetic representative of the Winnipeg Manitoban arrived from the mainland last night. George rendered himself immortal as correspondent for the Toronto Mail and the Manitoban during the Northwest troubles. Being "a hail fellow well met," with every one he has a wider circle of friends and acquaintances than most men. In Winnipeg he has always been a universal favorite and his many friends in this city and province are pleased to observe his genial presence in our midst. He will remain here till Friday. Mr. Ham is also registrar for the county of Selkirk, in which Winnipeg is situated, with headquarters at St. Boniface.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The teachers association met in Broughton street hall at 3 p. m., Vice-President J. M. Muir presiding. About seventy-five teachers were present. The secretary-treasurer, R. A. Anderson, read his annual report, and the meeting proceeded to elect the officers for the ensuing term. Superintendent Pope was re-elected President. The association will continue its sessions to-night and to-morrow at the same place, and will finish the session by a public entertainment to-morrow evening in Philharmonic Hall, to which all friends of education are invited. Admission free.

AND STILL ANOTHER.

Another very interesting ceremony will be performed to-morrow evening, when Mr. W. L. Cusack will be married to Miss Jennie Kelly, daughter of S. L. Kelly, Esq., of this city. The ceremony will take place at the residence of the bride's father.

DRAMATIC READINGS.

Miss Lola Collin will give a Dramatic Recital at Philharmonic Hall on Tuesday, 20th inst. Tickets 50 cents, for sale at Ferguson's and Ribbon's book stores. Children admitted at half price.

STILL THERE.

The tug Alexander made an attempt to pull the Sardonyx off last night at high tide, but without effect. Another trial will be made.

MARINE.

The bark Lothair, 82 days from Bangkok, Siam, arrived in Royal Roads this morning. She has a cargo of 1050 tons of "paddy" for the Victoria rice mills. She draws about nineteen feet of water and may have to be lightened of several hundred tons before being docked alongside the mill.

THE BENEFITS OF THE

Grape Cure

IN AMERICA

Concentrated in one Bottle without the Expense of an European Journey.

SAL-MUSCATELLE

The crystallized salts as extracted from grapes and fruit: a most wonderful product from Nature's laboratory; the greatest sovereign preparation ever placed before the American public.

Sal-Muscatelle is Nature's own product; it supplies to the weary system the want of sound, ripe grapes and fruit; it keeps the blood pure and the brain clear; is a natural blessing to the fagged-out and weary, an imperative companion to business men, ladies and children. Have it in your homes, travels, summer resorts and sea-side cottages.

THE TOPIC OF THE DAY.

Sick Headache and Dyspepsia Cure.

Sal-Muscatelle is the best preventive and cure for all functional derangements of the liver, biliousness, sick headache, temporary congestion arising from alcoholic beverages, giddiness, nausea, vomiting or of feeling of melancholy. ERRORS IN DIET, EATING OR DRINKING for all accidental indigestion arising from hasty meals, nervousness, impure blood, nettlerash, itching, or any other over-acid state of the blood; boils, skin eruption, commencement of diphtheria, the effect of mercurial poisons and at the beginning of all fevers; measles, chicken pox prickly heat, rheumatic and gouty poison due to impure blood, and sourness of stomach.

TESTIMONIAL.

VANCOUVER, 23rd June, 1886.

MR. G. ROBERTSON,
Vancouver,
Representing Goldie & McCulloch,
Galt, Ont.

SIR,—We the undersigned having witnessed the terrible fire which wiped out of existence the young city of Vancouver, on the 13th inst., have, after the fire, examined the safes sold by you, some of which were put to the most severe test, having been surrounded by large quantities of lard and bacon, and we are pleased to testify to the remarkable manner in which every safe sold by you preserved its contents, not only books and papers, but also thousand of dollars in paper money were taken out in perfect condition. We can, therefore, with the greatest confidence, recommend them as thoroughly fire proof.
